Between You and Me 15.06.17 – 25.06.17

MS: Between you and me?

CH: Ask you a question?

MS: Thanks that was one

MS: Those days in the streets of San Francisco

CH: Do you remember those days in the streets of San Francisco when we were hanging out on the staircases in front of the houses?

MS: Staircases to Heaven

CH: This certain blue sky

MS: The certain sharp light

CH: Painting is just like a relationship anyway, no?

MS: Working a lot to reach out for a brief moment of satisfaction

CH: Yeah just like an addiction

MS: Yeah, totally. Do you want a Turkish pastry?

CH: And do you know, where to go with your paintings?

MS: Studying painting. Changing the state of mind

CH: Oh yeah, it's true that painting teaches you

MS: You get really good with your instincts. At least you feel immediately, when you are going to make a mistake

MS :)

CH :)

CH: I'll take a nap

MS: I'll work harder on my caffeine rush

CH: All that repetition. Sometimes I think I already got where I wanted to be

MS: Just like getting blind or working on Autopilot

We just need to ask ourselves questions

CH: No way, the bar can be downstairs

MS: No, right! Blocking everything

Salmon Pink or Telemagenta ?

CH: Moonlight blue or Sunset Red ?

CH: But it's is such a fragile practice. We need to protect it.

MS: Blocking exploitation

CH: It's hard. MS: It's hard.

CH: The great thing about performing on stage is that it's just like painting but you are not alone

MS: Happy Collaboration

CH: Liberating Collaboration
